

STONEWALLING

American Doctrine of Unconventional Warfare:
The Stonewalling Denial Tactics in Domestic Politics
& Foreign Policy Strategy for Planetary Dominance!

Refusing to cooperate or acknowledge a situation exists despite strong evidence (to the contrary)!

--John Dean, Nixon's aid, 1972-73

By Prof. Paul S. Cutter

Church and state as organisms of human welfare have survived the ages because of support by the religious flock or the voting plebiscite. Posturing by both the clerics and the politicians gained prominence for reasons of political survival in domestic politics; while diplomacy and foreign policy designs proliferated by the ruling elites venturing abroad for easy profits... Bingo, the birth of religious and powerful state mythology and, thereby stonewalling—not just story telling as the Greek literary myth may be considered by pedagogy and the reading public, but clever and adamant profiling of the state at the cost of truth! However, our interest here is in the accent on political stonewalling, specifically how the Washington establishment persists with uncalled-for secrecy and immoral lying to the congressional investigative committees and the public at large, where operational deviance in and for the interest of the ruling circles has created a powerful military government in the United States, responsible today for the regressive democracy and aggressive conduct in making war for profit by our elitist, warring society. This relentless tactic has thrown us into persistent conflict & resolution, where we Americans start the conflict then appoint ourselves as arbiters and self-assumed leaders in worldwide affairs to solve the problem we have created—in the process “making profit”—therefrom the incredible impasse in war and peace, the global meridians becoming the American ruling elite's private sandbox in which the commonwealth of nations is forced to play the never-ending game of attrition, cold and hot wars, at times bringing us to the brink of atomic holocaust, retaliation and downright extinction (eg. the precipitous Cuban Missile Blockade of October 1962; cf. chap. 4 and 5 in my *Open Spaces...*trilogy, p. 9, below).

Modern political scientists and other observers realized long ago that posturing without the myth of political or godly power was impossible to secure the “nation-state” organism and keep up the profile of the country in its ability to govern at home, and make war or peace abroad with its friendly neighbors or belligerent empire-builders in the international arena. Borders were fortified, fought for or negotiated; usually the more powerful took advantage of the weak and meek of this world, and therefore alliances were made to protect “national security” venturing abroad beyond the traditional 3-12 mile offshore limit. The more powerful states became greedy, its rulers impotent or despotic as empire-builders, determined to protect their acquired dominions, where military power emerged as the main instrument of aggrandizement, dominance and global imperialism. Thereby, colonization became the operational mode for those nations whose military prowess was such that conquest, brutal administrative measures, ironclad control and exploitation became profitable, which changed the way of life for the worse in the international arena of power politics of the 17-18th century to date.

Exploitation became the standard of the standard bearers; suddenly the worldwide populace and their endemic territories was parceled into empire-builders' dominions, man's prosperity dashed to conflict, with resolution transferred to imperial forums and elitist negotiating conferences, where balance of power became the rule of law among the powerful—whatever the territorial divisions and ideological direction of the polity, it was reserved for the powerful to decide and exploit at will (unfortunately, which we still witness today in the petroleum-rich fiefdoms and kingdoms in the Middle East), the inalienable rights of man, the Human Condition, under siege, imprisoned by will of the few, for three long centuries until the end of WW-II, when shortly thereafter the former colonial empires collapsed almost imperceptibly, under the weight of their own contradictions; the very reason why UK give up the ship of empire-building in 1949.¹

In the meantime, the sleepy prairie amalgam of disparate races and diverse peoples in North America, were bridled by the Anglo-Saxons, under the Jeffersonian elitist democracy ploy, hence soon the “sacred cow” of American National Security and the President's exclusive NSC organism, located in the basement of the White House—under the pressure and control of the sleuths in Langley and the national military-industrial complex, i.e. the Shadow Government—transformed the American Government into a relentless war-making machine; prosecuting a clever strategy of tension among the community of nations, especially of the weak and meek of this world, exploiting their human and natural resources, for their own exclusive means and ends of hegemony and dominance of the planetary meridians...The UN on East River (NYC) became its exclusive political platform, the worldwide community of nations downright hostaged by the whims, whittles and whangs of Washington's behaviorally deviant ruling elite, recently bankrupting our national economy in order to fulfill the military-industrial complex voracious hunger for money, power and dominance; indeed, in 2,008 (as predicted by this writer and the SOS think tank, June 6, 1982): it spread like wildfire throughout the international meridians! To be honest, the 26 years past forecasted accent was on USA; no one expected the virus of financial collapse to affect the entire Global Village, including the mini-states, local banks, super-markets, utilities, housing, employment and such pedestrian infrastructure, or that America will elect a Black President; maybe a lady Chief Executive but not the colored, incompetent and powerless Illinois senator, who overnight became a patsy for the power hierarchy (H₂P), his pre-election CHANGE platform an outright fraud.

Professional groups such as research and development think tanks, institutes and university faculties, especially private organisms or academic enclaves, provided us in those days with the time-sharing Big Macs, albeit 'limited' opportunity, such as those offered at Lawrence National Laboratory, Berkeley, California and Los Alamos National Laboratory, northern New Mexico; then SRI at Stanford and the RAND Corporation, as well as companies such as General Electric, Rockwell International, TRW and others, gave us access (on the QT) to their computer centers, and even allowed their research staffs to assist us in programming, eg. the prediction of the fall of communism in Russia was timely forecast by our germinating but low-profiled SOS Think Tank (STRATEGIC OPTIONS STUDY Group), which over a 27-year period missed the fall of the single-party Soviet state monopoly by only eight months (also disclosed in advance by my seminal academic book on unofficial art), while the financial meltdown was right on the money, mid-June 2,008.

¹The colonization of India, a successful multinational commercially developed nation-state remains one of the most barbarous acts in the history of WesternCiv, by a relatively civilized England; victims of the Anglo-Saxon deviant behavior and penchant for aggression.

1. A Brief Historical Review: Empire-Building

Macedonia was the first mini-state which became a powerful military machine, by the will of its proud and courageous race of people which refused to be governed and exploited by the nearby Greek city-states, especially the invading Persian colonizers from Asia. The Argaed Dynasty of Macedonia, dating back to the 8th century BC, abused by both the Greeks and the Per-sians managed to build a powerful military machine, the world had never seen before, with the father and son team – Phillip II and Alexander the Great – the latter inheriting his father’s military know-how gained as a hostage over a decade-long imprisonment by the Thebans, who in 337/38 BC formed the Corinthian League, forcing the 16 Greek city states into compliance. Alexander launched his army of 30,000 infantry and 5,000 cavalry, crossing over into Asia in 334 BC, conquering almost all of the known world, literally destroying the powerful Persian Empire within two years time, reaching the Indus River Valley of India with amazing speed, stealth and unprecedented success, fighting 28 victorious battles, winning every one of them, settling down in Mesopotamia making Babylon his capital of the world. But he died young, at the hands of his own generals, poisoned at age 32.

However, Alexander’s incredible ability not only to make war and win battles against greatest of odds, he left a written legacy in how to build empires, and to mythologize his invincible ‘godly’ self, with the world’s first Department of Agitation & Propaganda, to scare the formidable Persian Empire, which worked even beyond his own imagination; indeed, with the first rudiments of ‘stonewalling’, putting up a non-existent front of small but militarily potent Macedonia!... It was Alexander who first established the concept of “right to empire,” copied by others, even in our times by the Washington ruling elite, though the Macedonian leader was much more enlightened, i.e. he gave the weak & meek of this world a right to join the Macedonian cavalcade as equal partners. Moreover, his empire-building concept was copied lock-stock-and-barrel, though applied much more aggressively by his followers, namely the Julian or Augustus Dynasty of Rome, which left its imperial imprint on continental Europe, in time creating the ‘vertically’ successful WesternCiv, inherited millennia later by the Anglo-Saxons, a barbarian breed of man from the flatlands of the river Ganges, which arrived on the continent of Europe in AD9, delivering such Germanic empire leaders as Charlemagne, Frederick I, Napoleon and Hitler, the latter two decisively defeated in their unsuccessful empire-building wars of 1812 and 1941-45.

Internecine wars marked the pages of history in the Middle Ages; though the Renaissance resulted in formalizing a mighty Western European civilization we have clichéd – WesternCiv, despite the vicious struggle in The 100 Years War, The 30 Years War, and incursion into Southern Europe by the marauding Ottoman Turks. But out of the chaos ²German Renaissance painter and printmaker Albrecht Altdorfer (c. 1480-1538) dramatically depicted the battle in his 1529 painting, The Battle of Alexander at Issus, which presaged the rise of the West and formalization of WesternCiv totalitarian heroes ascent to power, the likes of Napoleon, Hitler and Stalin (Russia is also WesternCiv), the panoramic mega-battles of Waterloo, Nazi lightning drive through the “impregnable” French Maginot Line, Hitler’s Stalingrad debacle (still the largest battle ever fought by man, 1943), and Gen. Eisenhower’s 1944 massive naval crossing of the La Mache, to breach Hitler’s Atlantic Wall, the largest naval invasion in history of warfare. The Alexander-zeal or Alexander mania exhibited by Germanic Heraldry in the West probably dates from the 17th century, covering the walls of the Versailles Palace (painted cloth), depicting the battles and victories of Alexander the Great and his triumphal entry into Babylon; designed by the French court-painter Charles le Brun (c. 1675), and served as models for the following paintings... Noticeably, Alexander and his Macedonian infantry are dressed in the style of the Turkish forces of Sultan, Suleiman the Magnificent, in the siege of Vienna, 1688. See, Alexander the Great of Macedonia—Legacy, chap. 2, and “Alexanderzeal” essay on my Website; expected book release date winter-spring of 2011/2012.

arose in the West, first the Alexanderzeal in the new paintings of The Battle of Issus stylized by the German painter, Albrecht Altdorfer (1529), and the French court-painter Charles le Brun (c. 1675);² and, secondly, in the British Isles, with its stealthy fleet, suddenly emerged a Gothic empire which conquered 1/4th of the planetary meridians as its very own colonial empire, originating in the 16th, and the French Empire spreading its wings in the 17th century. However, it was the British who managed to get the largest and most profitable chunk of global territory; the smaller countries such as Belgium, Holland and Portugal grabbing their own share. While tsarist-Russia, indeed, had spread its exclusive territory from Brest-Litovsk in the West to the Chukotka Peninsula of Eastern Siberia (to the Bering Sea Straits of Alaska), claiming 11½ time zones of uninterrupted land-locked territory, the largest and richest Klondike in raw material resources left on this planet Earth. Only the Germans faltered, whose feudal fiefdoms could never come to terms to form a single nation-state, hence failing to colonize much, but for the flailing and failing warfare efforts of Wilhelm Kaiser in WW-I, and Hitler in WW-II, the very reason for the 20th century belated imperialism. Not much more could be said about any other worthwhile development for the empire-builders, but for the nowadays arising commercially powerful Red Chinese communal but totalitarian communist Empire.

Amazingly out of those two world wars emerged the prairie nation of immigrants, the United States of America which, despite the British decision (the Mother Lode) to give up its vast empire in 1949, we Americans decided to fight it out ideologically with the 5-centuries old nation-state tsarist-communist Russia for global primacy, resulting in the dangerous Cold War standoff, 1947-1993. Fortunately, both empires per se abandoned polarization, their hold as specific ideological blocs—Russia gave up Eastern Europe, we Americans more or less departed from Western Europe, but for the NATO Pact, which is more of a menace and an instrument of American lame empire-building than a military bloc, about to disintegrate leaving America and Great Britain to swim alone in their own amniotic waters. Now, no sane continental nation would raise a gun against its EC members, much less so to serve our American insane dominance policy of high-tech empire-building in the very advanced 21st century of civil liberties and democratic progress engaged in forming a much more equitable global village society, a commonwealth of smaller mini-states, and perhaps with some tolerance still for the multipolar interim posturing of perhaps no more than 5-6 major countries, destined to break-up sooner than later into sovereign mini-states and principalities, the imminent local functional autonomy Commonwealth of Nations becoming a reality, a laissez faire New World Order with a mutually-appointed Council of Elders, old men with gray hair and bald heads tempering—not tampering—with the emerging new global order!

Now the Arabs and their youthful revolution is on warpath, more against its feudal religion and regressive mores than the despots in power, finally forcing democratization of their way of life, intent in joining the ranks of modern man. And more so, as we shall learn all-too-soon, against our American exploitation of their petroleum-rich territories, where we—the Limey-Yankee Brotherhood—have in some instances de facto appointed the despots and protected the desert rulers in order to secure the flow of fossil fuel to our energy glut. In fact, we 312 million Americans burn over half of the planetary energy seemingly without an iota of conscience for environmental control or abuse of disappearing raw material resources as if the other nations, developed or underdeveloped, will continue feeding our insatiable glut for all those resources? Prosecuting warfare for profit abroad has given us an edge to intimidate, maim and kill millions of innocent foreigners, to secure such material and financial resources to keep up the consumer society insane turnover, designing advertising and marketing programs turning us into a disposal nation of nincompoops, spending more toilet paper, product packaging, and soft water, also more than the rest of the worldwide population combined.

Until the infamous 2,008 financial meltdown, caused by the Washington ruling elite, we got away with it, both at home and abroad. Now that the excesses have been hung out to dry on our dirty clothes line, with plans and demands for financial recovery only a smokescreen so transparent for all those who want to see the truth what our myth of American success looks like inside-out; only now realizing that most of the ills facing contemporary modern world come from the Washington kitchens, think tanks and corporate board rooms, and the military-industrial complex, the multinationals, and from the government bureaucracy, the establishment's ruling elite. Unbelievably-believable, the establishment and the government bureaucracy cannot see the forest for the trees, i.e. the avalanche of written literature, profiled forums and academic think tanks criticizing the insane moribund direction taken by the elite? At least the demonstrations on the steps of the Wall Street Exchange ought to be an indication let alone the galloping Arab revolution at large!

2. Ceded Prevarication: The Stonewalling Doctrine

All the post World War-II wars of attrition and the Cold War itself were products of those interest groups and power-pockets in the American industry and government, emanating from the Intelligence Community writing the script, the operatives and the military establishment the prosecuting instrument of conventional and unconventional warfare. During the Watergate fiasco John Dean, an aid to President Nixon, under the pressure of the congressional investigative committees finally spilled the beans, i.e. how the American state model was a myth, stonewalling its falsehoods of posturing and cover-up into reality; “truth nothing but the truth” just a ploy not only in the White House but throughout the government bureaucracy; the legislature and the justice department official patsies within the interstices of compromised state infrastructure; the tricameral balance of power, a conspiracy by the ruling elite against its plebiscite and the world at large; indeed, not telling the truth to the public when deviant policy is in the interest of the state had become a virtue not an immoral act. For example, the Vietnamese War was started because three Vietcong patrol boats fictively fired at the American man of war in the Gulf of Tonkin. [See, the discussion and illustrations below, in the Addendum.]

Fig. 1. John Wesley Dean was born in Akron, Ohio, on 14th October, 1938. He did his undergraduate studies at Colgate University. This was followed by a graduate fellowship from American University to study government and the presidency. He then entered the Georgetown University Law Center and he received his JD in 1965... In July, 1970, Richard Nixon, the Quaker President, appointed him Counsel to the President. Other posts included Chief Minority Counsel to the Judiciary Committee of the United States House of Representatives, the Associate Director of a law reform commission, and Associate Deputy Attorney General of the United States.

In the Watergate congressional hearings John Dean, White House Counsel, disclosed the “stonewalling” policy of the US Establishment, dictated by NSC policy and CIA sleuths to posture and mythologize the all-powerful government of Pax Americana, eg. the Gulf of Tonkin fraud, “body count” of VC resistance fighters, set-up of dangerous attrition wars, engineering the Cold War, and even an attempt to serve the new democratic Russia with a Civil War in the Caucasus, which fell flat on its face, as the Kremlin took it for what it was – an outright fraud – and reacted with force. Condoleezza Rice, the Black Secretary of State and National Security Adviser for George Bush, Jr. was one of the promoters, right on the ground...

Later, Ms Rice was directed to negotiate the conflict and make profit in the process for her government, the Conflict & Resolution gaming doctrine, where we Americans start the conflict then appoint ourselves as arbiters, creating war for profit, one of the cornerstones of aggressive American foreign policy. Just like the war in Iraq, indeed, WMD was a ploy perpetrated and propounded by George Bush, Jr. and Tony Blair, a complete lie, because Saddam Hussein didn't even have a slingshot to defend his sovereign country much less weapons of mass destruction. Both heads of state got away with it to this very day, of course, using the stonewalling cover-up, i.e. now that the public is in the know, time has washed it down, the criminality in genocide legalized, no one cares anymore. The brutal conquest of Iraq for profit (petroleum) has been legalized, hence my charge that the USA model of state is a legitimized-illegitimacy in practice, the American 200 year-old nation-state, a nude "civilization streaker" comparatively speaking, for a five millennia-old Iraq/Babylon and other members of the Commonwealth of Nations.

Notice, the 9/11 bombings of the NYC Towers and the Pentagon: on the 10th anniversary the CNN and BBC anchormen and women were told to go ahead and start questioning the revenge War on Terror; the decompressing process began on credibility of the American uncalled for aggressive reaction—all those killing fields perpetrated on Islam? In fact, how the Chief Executive on 1776 Pennsylvania Ave. seems to have known about it in advance, even that we might have been accomplices, along with Israel, as the real culprits, and designed the whole package to create another worldwide conflict for profit. It can be gleaned from the profiled Washington Post Company, c. 2002-2011, and other more rational media reporting, sometimes between the lines, though Catherine Graham, an old acquaintance, had passed way to keep the editorial strings of power and freer censorship policy intact, inveigling state political truth whenever possible! Prof. Wolin, as you will read below, explains how that docility and inaction is installed by the elite.

Web definitions:

"Obstruct or hinder the truth: 'Nixon stonewalled the Watergate investigation,' engaging in delaying tactics or refuse(ing) to cooperate; the President stonewalled when he realized the plot was being uncovered by a journalist," Bob Woodward of The Washington Post.

'Take a position and defend it. Your defense may be active, mild or passive, but whatever they say or do, do not budge an inch.'

"Delay, refuse to collaborate. Do not answer questions. Be like a stone wall. Succinctly, it's the act of stalling, evading, or filibustering, especially to avoid revealing politically embarrassing information. The 'sacred cow' of National Security is the biggest culprit, the perpetrator and abuser of democratic processes in a truly democratic society, which America is not by a long shot—rather, as we have seen in other writings by this observer, our country is described as a clever perfidy of Inverted Totalitarianism.

"Inverted totalitarianism is a term coined by political philosopher Sheldon Wolin to describe an 'ideal type' government (see, below); it is a term the old professor of political philosophy uses to describe the government of the United States as it has evolved since World War II. Wolin contrasts the inverted totalitarianism of the United States with the totalitarian regimes such as Nazi Germany and Stalinist Soviet Union." Also, see my essay, Power Politics replete on my Website: www.profpaulcutter.com.

"Managed democracy is 'a political form in which governments are legitimated by elections that they have learned to control'... the electorate is prevented from having a significant impact on policies adopted by the state through the continuous employment of public relations techniques." Wolin 2008, pp 47, 60.

Stonewalling consists of:

1. Refusal to negotiate a conflict in good faith
2. Refusal to discuss honestly one's motivations
3. Refusal to listen to another point of view with openness
4. Refusal to compromise
5. Refusal to collaborate
6. Refusal to support the other person's plans
7. Refusal to accept influence

Discussion

“By holding your position and repeating your arguments, you might just wear them down. No matter what alternatives they offer, just repeat yourself. Sooner or later, especially if they have a greater need for agreement than you, they will capitulate... By simply standing silent, all of their attacks are repelled. If you respond, then you show weakness, you can be provoked and hence compromised... Stonewalling is a complete pattern of non-cooperation that only works from a position of power! Historically, stonewalling was named after the US Civil War general Stonewall Jackson, whose troops at the first Battle of Bull Run, August 28-30, 1862, was described as being like a stone wall.” Wikipedia®

3. Origin of the Ruling Elite

In the aggressive, belligerent and insane American government's stonewalling drive it had become a fundamental tactic to water down the truth, because it is a way to apply pressure that seemingly can't be confronted, explicitly in “not telling the truth,” or delaying it until it no longer has the public interest, the perpetrators of the crime never taken to justice. For example, the American War in Vietnam was started by a flat lie, how a Vietcong coastal vessels fired on an American ship of war, which was an act of war providing Washington with the excuse to start the ill-fated Indochina conflict, which cost the nation 58,000 dead troops, 2,800 MIA, and 320,000 wounded veterans, loss of 5,000 mostly high-tech fighter aircraft to the imported Russian SAM missiles, paid for by delivering American POW officer corps (the 2,800 MIAs, eliminated in Russia, confirmed and apologized publicly by the Russian new leader, Boris Yeltsin), software and hardware that cost the nation over $150 billion dollars—who knows for sure, perhaps a trillion?...The innocent Vietnamese lost two million people and the Cambodians over a million to the “yellow rain” and merciless B-52 bombing; it caused the political instability with the Khmer Rouge communist belligerents, the latter exterminating another two-three million of their own nationals (some of it under the late Pol Pot)...Our illegal presence anywhere causes instability and chaos...it's time to “go home,” folks!

The Goth is a fresh immigrant on the continent—having arrived from Asia so recently, AD9, just over two millennia ago—therefrom fatalism, aggression and deviant behavior in the Family of Man, a built-in mechanism of survival to compensate for lack of acculturation and normal growth for the traditional civilizing process, eg. it took the Babylonians in Mesopotamia 5,000 years of nation-statehood, while the American nation-state is just over 200 years-old; consequently the easiness for the culprits to revert to atavism, abnormal behavior and insane, arbitrary decision to lead the world, the readiness to compete, indulge in risk, revenge and adventurism, which are behavioral traits and absurdities so close to the heart of the Goth and his “blood & guts” genetically ingrained deviant behavior, which make him a social problem for the much more advanced racial groups and society at large. Perhaps for many—even to the best of observers, American decline is imperceptible, yet it's in process and irreversibly so; therefore, surely time to view the phenomenon seriously by worldwide leadership and take concrete steps to curb the open-ended illegalities and aggression against the weak and meek of this world! Please note (below), what the brave and well researched British mini-encyclopedia, published in the UK:

"The term barbarian means outsider – and Romans thought them to be uncivilized. They lived in small farming communities and were ferocious warriors.

"The Germans living in south Sweden and north Germany moved south and pushed the Celts west. The Romans tried to control the Germans and were seriously beaten by them in AD 9. The Romans with some friendly German tribes, and recruited some into the Roman army. Some tribes, such as the Franks, Alemanni and Goths raided the empire in 260-270, and the Romans had to make peace and settle them (on empire territory)... The Huns (Xiongnu) had been evicted from Mongolia by the Chinese. They swept into Europe, settling in Hungary around 370... Vandals sacked Rome itself by 410... The Huns ravaged Greece, Germany and Gaul, destroying everything... As Rome collapsed, barbarians settled in Germany, Italy, Spain, Britain and France, gradually adopting many Roman customs. By 800, the Frankish king Charlemagne ruled an empire spanning Germany and France. The Visigoths settled in Spain and the Vandals took Carthage. The Huns retreated to Romania and the Ukraine. The Lombards settled in Italy and founded a strong kingdom under King Odoacer. The Burgundians settled in eastern France, and the Saxons and Jutes took England."

[See, Concise HISTORY Encyclopedia (London: Kingfisher Publications Plc., 2001), p. 62].

On the DECLINE of ROME, the same source writes:

"Power shifted to the provinces where the people wanted to keep their Roman status. The Parthians in the east (North-East Iran, whose archers withstood the Roman legions) and the British in the north (whence, Hadrian's Wall north of York) created trouble, and a new force was appearing – the barbarians. Marcomanni, Goths, Franks, Alemanni and Vandals were pressing in, and in 260-272, the Romans had to abandon Hungary and Bavaria to them. Parts of the empire such as Gaul, Britain and Syria were becoming separate and the roman economy was also declining... Cf. from 250 to 550 the Romans were constantly battling with Germanic and Asiatic barbarians, who sought either to join the empire, to raid it for booty or bring it down."

Ibid., p. 60

"Theodosius was the last emperor of a united Roman empire (379-395 AD), and an enthusiastic Christian. He was of barbarian blood, born of Germans who had joined the Roman Empire."

Ibid. p. 63.

PS. I cannot believe that Theodosius, the emperor, was not forgiving as a prime example of the Fifth Column, destroying the empire from within... The point is very simple: If the aggressive gene is Germanic, Oriental or Asian, the fire in the loins splashed into the female of another more vertical race was an astute move to improve the cosmetic and mental profile. The breed arrived on the continent of Europe basically after the start of the new age – AD9, the birth of Christ, hence very green behind the ears, indeed, gaining everything at the point of a sword to this very day, including genetic transference, while keeping the aggressive streak intact, then this breed is a prime subject for an all-out censure if not worse... Well then it would be beneficial for the plebiscite to know the truth, the Overlords' origin, psychosomatic makeup and dominance plans, i.e. this sub-breed of man is a hardcore Hegemon prone to enforce power of one man over another, hence losing every right to self-appointed political power and rule over global meridians, especially with the persistent track record of aggression, war-fare & killing fields, hegemony aloft emanating from its own specific kitchen—think tanks, gaming rooms, gulf & country clubs and the military-industrial complex monopoly; its Hindu mantra: Conflict & Resolution, for exclusive racial dominance over the planetary meridians; therefrom, the Stonewalling Doctrine!

Let us stop making excuses; it's the nature of the beast, the aggressive Goth from the flat-lands of the River Ganges, now dominating WesternCiv!

Fig. 2, Pentagon's annual budget pie?...

Consequently, it's time to shift gears by the weak and meek "w ho shall inherit the Earth," said the Bible, right! Then "from swords to plowshares," the cliché on the UN Bldg. at East River is a fraud, the organization monopolized only as a platform en route to dominance and aggression. The founders of The League of Nations in the interwar period (US abstaining to join), should have enforced its original membership w riting a different motto on the same edifice: Absolute power corrupts absolutely!

—Excerpted from DOMINANCE, Cutter 2000; based on the 1961-62 Siberian notes and documents, later published in the Cold War trilogy volume ©2005, OPEN SPACES —Conflict & Resolution (www: profpaulcutter.com).

PPS. Arriving on the continent just two millennia ago, the event did not give the Goth, the Anglo-Saxon ruling elite, sufficient time to acculturate, though they did contribute much to the progress of WesternCiv culture and high-tech from the end of the 17th century. But unfortunately, as the traditional proverb dictated, "You can take the boy out of the country but not the country out of the boy," as the imbedded Asian origin aggressive mood remains, hence the behavioral deviance and war-mongering to this very day, Ripley, believe it or not!

Consistent corruption, countervailing, posturing, downright aggression and exploitation of the weak & meek of this world ever since the Civil War (1861-65), from the days of the "carpet baggers," has transformed the elite into the damnest clique of legalized criminals that civil society has yet to curtail, judge and punish! Frankly, I find myself short of words to describe the level of perfidy, manipulation and illegality successfully prosecuted by that irresponsible, deviant lot which is still vying for control of world wide planetary meridians. For them, indeed, the vistas of former Devils Island – Tasmania – may be on the horizon!

* * *

Of course, I know, they don't believe it for a moment (in retribution), the powerful never do, until they crash down the precipitous hierarchical pyramid walls from the pinnacle of power, condemned, perennially rolling the Sisyphean stone up and down the penal hill; indeed, still, very few laymen comprehend the inevitable, but the lessons of history teach us, how those who abuse the Human Condition can be condemned to repeat the censured life style once faced by their brethren down under, tsk? tsk!

4. Inverted Totalitarianism

"While the versions of totalitarianism represented by Nazism and Fascism consolidated power by suppressing liberal political practices that had sunk only shallow cultural roots. Superpower represents a drive towards totality that draws from the setting where liberalism and democracy have been established for more than two centuries. It is Nazism turned upside down, "inverted totalitarianism." While it is a system that aspires to totality, it is driven by an ideology of the cost effective rather than of a 'master race' (Herrenvolk), by the material rather than the 'ideal'.

—Wolin 2004, p. 59.

Wolin, Sheldon S., Democracy Incorporated: Managed Democracy and the Specter of Inverted Totalitarianism (Princeton: Princeton University Press, 2008). SBN0691 135665.

Wolin writes:

"(American) superpower maintains the conceit that its model (of nation-state) is for the whole world" to emulate. —Wolin 2008, p. 52. Impossible, the Goth arrived on the continent in AD9, just two millennia ago; the race is unqualified to lead their own two-centuries old barbarian civilization, the 'nude' streaker among the more civil community of nations. [My emphasis added on 'conceit' and 'model', —PSC.]

The conceit emanates from atavism, the primitive drive to bridge the gap and make up for lost time in reaching the heights of WesternCiv, accomplished with force for the lack of acculturation (it takes time to become civil and to behave 'civilly' in a civil society; therefrom: (1) the aggression

we're all subjected to by lack of justice, equity and equality at home (cleverly beating docility into the apathetic plebiscite), and (2) brutal warfare abroad, in order for our Yankee-Limey establishment(s) to live in an ideal word which appeals to their primitive psyche: (a) atavistic blood & guts experienced out in the foreign killing fields, and (b) keep some semblance of democracy at home intact for legitimacy purposes, especially for the skilled labor, professional and academic classes, with the well-rewarded elite. The scheme was important, to keep peace with the standard bearers (Caprimulgus, the "chaotnics"), the control mechanism phenomenon and a crucial transmission belt for communications and directives flowing between the ruling hierarchy above and the plebian, working masses below, right out of German gestaltism... (See, the discussion on my website Political Power replete... located by the eye in the Egyptian pyramid illustration therein). Of course, warfare creates chaos and financial profit, both of which are exploitable by the scruples powers that be. -PSC

"Inverted totalitarianism reverses things. It is all politics all of the time but a politics largely untempered by the political. Party squabbles are occasionally on public display, and there is a frantic and continuous politics among factions of the party, interest groups, competing corporate powers, and rival media concerns. And there is, of course, the culminating moment of national elections when the attention of the nation is required to make a choice of personalities rather than a choice between alternatives. What is absent is the political, the commitment to finding where the common good lies amidst the welter of well-financed, highly organized, single-minded interests rabidly seeking governmental favors and overwhelming the practices of representative government and public administration by a sea of cash. Wolin 2008, p. 66.

"Superpower has two main totalizing dynamics. The first, directed outward, finds its expression in the Global War on Terror and in the Bush Doctrine that Superpower has the right to launch preemptive wars. This amounts to Superpower seeing as illegitimate the attempt by any state to resist its domination. Wolin 2008, pp. 82–88. The second dynamic, directed inward, involves the subjection of the mass of the population to economic "rationalization", with continual "downsizing" and outsourcing" of jobs abroad and dismantling of what remains of the welfare state created by U.S. Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt's New Deal and Lyndon B. Johnson's Great Society, Wolin 2008, pp. 27,64–65. (Thus, neoliberalism is an integral component of Inverted Totalitarianism.) The state of insecurity in which this places the public serves the useful function of making people feel helpless, thus making it less likely that they will become politically active, and thus helping to maintain the first dynamic. Wolin 2008, p. 195."

Finally, the punctuated equilibria evolutionary concept in biology, the giant leap forward by an evolving species in the survival and competitiveness of the most fit, evidently was demonstrated by the primitive Goth, for the last three centuries in his intellectual development, as we have written in the past, which is admirable, indeed, but retaining the aggressive mood smacks of genetically-ingrained deviance, which other races, tribes, and clans of the Hominid have managed to shed through acculturation or environmental advantage... Hence, the persistent impasse with the more civil community of nations by the aggressive superpowers or at least the still pretending American nation, which refuses to give up the ship of empire-building, though already this writer has degraded it with the label of one of six multipolar nations, that Nixon had forecast in a weak moment of truth back in July 1971. In fact, recently I wrote about the ongoing development of regional powers in my weekly column for the Macedonian PUBLIKA magazine (July 30, 2011), which some of my readers have seen; it will be posted for others to peruse on my website in due course.

Frankly, I have searched high and low in behavioral science and have not found a better explanation than the accent I have placed on the "origin" of the aggressive breed in our midst, the American-British ruling elite, which is deviant by racial type... See, my essay "Of Empires & Financial Meltdowns: No Recovery in Sight," on my website (below), subsection "Political Writings" titled – Of Empires and Empire-Building; a series in progress, where I discuss Menwith Hill, the NSA top secret facility in England, while essays on the UK-USA Intelligence Community and other writings on this crucial subject will be posted shortly... Indeed, what awaits the "stonewalling" empire-builders is the proverbial classical fate of Sisyphus – rolling the "sisyphian" stone for cleverly fielding subservience and docility on global scale of their self-assumed Cyclopean gymnastics in high-tech empire-building games over a relatively civil 21st century worldwide society at large!

Note: Of course, the DoD Budget in the pie (above) is a far cry from the truth; at least over a trillion dollars get squandered annually for the so-called defense if not much more. The CIA secretly owns over 3,800 corporations, large and small business, banks, utilities and real estate, eg. all the land from the Pentagon to Crystal City belongs to the sleuths.

Needless to underscore, much secret financing comes from that material windfall..., and other secreted funding, such as petroleum moguls, well-rewarded corporate sponsors including the multinationals, i.e. the sponsors of empire-building, the 21st century cancer we must find a cure for..., if the Human Condition per se is to survive in this form and humane content!

Copyright©2011 by prof. Paul S. Cutter, all rights reserved, Sept. 27th; Old Town – Budva, Montenegro, Europe

Power corrupts, but absolute power corrupts absolutely. - George Santayana

www: profpaulcutter.com

This article appeared in the May 19, 2003 edition of The Nation.

"The war on Iraq has so monopolized public attention as to obscure the regime change taking place in the Homeland. We may have invaded Iraq to bring in democracy and bring down a totalitarian regime, but in the process our own system may be moving closer to the latter and further weakening the former. The change has been intimated by the sudden popularity of two political terms rarely applied earlier to the American political system. 'Empire' and 'superpower' both suggest that a new system of power, concentrated and expansive, has come into existence and supplanted the old terms. 'Empire' and 'superpower' accurately symbolize the projection of American power abroad, but for that reason they obscure the internal symbol consequences. Consider how odd it would sound if we were to refer to 'the Constitution of the American Empire' or 'superpower democracy.' The reason they ring false is that 'constitution' signifies limitations on power, while 'democracy' commonly refers to the active involvement of citizens with their government and the responsiveness of government to its citizens. For their part, 'empire' and 'superpower' stand for the surpassing of limits and the dwarfing of the citizenry. –Wolin.

Wolin on Democracy & Counterrevolution:

"Last winter's government shutdown in the U.S., contrary to media reports, was not about innocent bystanders-government workers, recipients of benefits or tourists--however genuine their hardships. It was about the broad scheme of power in the nation. The shutdown was, instead, a direct challenge to the principle that in a democracy the government belongs to the people. It is theirs either to reconstitute by prescribed means, such as the amending process, or to halt by resistance or disobedience if it governs tyrannically. The lack of response testifies to the truly terrifying pace at which depoliticization is being promoted and the depths of the alienation set. The combined consequence of the Republican counter-revolution, the collapse of liberalism into centrism and the general onslaught against government, Washington and public officials is nothing less than the discrediting of the fundamental principle of a democratic society: that political power and office are meant to serve the needs of the vast majority.

"Or another example of the inversion: Under Nazi rule there was never any doubt about 'big business' being subordinated to the political regime. In the United States, however, it has been apparent for decades that corporate power has become so predominant in the political establishment, particularly in the Republican Party, and so dominant in its influence over policy, as to suggest a role inversion, the exact opposite of the Nazis'. At the same time, it is corporate power, as the representative of the dynamic of capitalism and of the ever-expanding power made available by the integration of science and technology with the structure of capitalism, that produces the totalizing drive that, under the Nazis, was supplied by ideological notions such as Lebensraum”, –Wolin.

Our American “elbow room” (lebensraum)—and/or modern colonization—is secured via high-tech “proxy power” from spysat platforms in polar orbit, need be – ruthlessly enforced by ground troops, crippling sanctions and blackmail from terra firma power enclaves, seemingly their own personalized global sandbox below punctuating the planetary meridians!

Finally, an important ft. note by this writer: the recent developments on East River, the self-imposed control and so-called wars against Weapons of Mass Destruction (WMD) in the Middle East to gain ‘illegal’ access to vast petroleum resources have decisively precluded any further reason to keep the UN HQ on East River, since its Charter is not honored by the host country and in fact its operational and administrative polices abused exclusively for sovereign gain and questionable socioeconomic interests of dominance and hegemony over global meridians.

Fig. 3. Photo, mid-summer 2007, right after a year-long stint working on the Cold War trilogy opus in continental Russia and far-off Siberia, taken at Krstacs Restaurant, Rezhevichi-1 MNE [The frame, right, can easily be enlarged for better quality or reprint use.]

The causes identified include the continued arms race, strange alliances, secret diplomacy, illegal orbital spying across the planetary meridians (“for profit,” i.e. stealing contracts by snooping, not just excuse for the “sacred cow” of National Security), stonewalling and, ‘incredibly’ – evidently subscribing to the outdated concept of “free-dom of sovereign states to enter into war at will for their own political, economic and financial benefit,” the competitive classical ‘doggy-eats-the-dog’ world of capitalism, as the popular adage dictates. The obvious remedy is the removal of the UN HQ, NYC, first to Geneva CH, then on to Athens, Greece, where democracy was born and the first historical League of Nations formalized; indeed, the old ancient League of Corinth -- 337/38 BC, when actually the very first Greek nation-state was formed from the 16 often-warring Greek city-states.³

³The modern Greeks should not forget that the first Greek nation-state was formed by the Macedonians, not Greeks per se, but by the Macedonian father-son team, King Philip II and Alexander the Great of Macedonia, who had had it with the Greeks raping their native kingdom of Macedonia! Moreover, the Hellenistic Period in history 330 – 30 BC is a serious historical misnomer; it was only culturally Greek, the Macedonians used the Hellenistic lingua franca for their written language, while they spoke in their own ancient Macedonian tongue, but the Empire remained Macedonian throughout most of the period divided between four Alexander’s heirs. For example, the Macedonian Queen of Egypt, Cleopatra, ended the period with her death at 30 BC. And, after all, who was by nationality the famous philosopher Aristotle, but Macedonian from Stageira, Macedonia! In addition, it was the continental powers misnomer to give the Greeks 67% of Macedonia at the fateful Bucharest Conference of 1913, the rest to Bulgaria and Serbia... Enthralled with Greek classics the horizontal continental Intelligentsia at the time surely didn’t know any better... But I assure them, time has come to allow the Macedonians to have the name of their original country – Macedonia – as well as their own language, including the official spoken ancient Macedonian, which appeared in the Rosetta Stone, despite the illicit Greek government’s manipulations in EU; imagine, in the 21st century of transparency? The fraudulent campaign against the innocent population of Macedonia, of course, motivated out of fear for the world at large finally learning the real truth about past history of nations, with the EU Commission (one Herr Štefan Füle), the first lesson about the origin of languages! [This writer will have more to say about that and the country name “Macedonia” in a following Position Statement to the EU Commission!]

The war in Iraq has had a profound negative impact, affecting the social, political and economic system around the world, especially with the financial meltdown caused by the United States and Britain in their overextension of resources, deployment of men & materiel in conducting constant conflict for profit, inflicting heavy losses of human life, psychological and physical damage across the global meridians. The Anti-American sentiment is such around the world today, though still not as vociferous as it will become in due course vis a vis the obvious financial woes evermore adversely affecting the standard of living of the wider masses, the quality of daily life deteriorating such in the undeveloped and developing South in the evermore acute diversity and disparity between North and South even East and West that it must soon come to a head in those relations—the mobile vulgus or the “fickle crowd,” the irate “mob,” will rise to the occasion and go to war to correct the wrongs committed against the weak and meek of this world, something the Romans feared and worried about in conducting their public affairs and foreign policy and paid the final price – destruction of the empire (hence, the Latin-coined term, the crucial concept poorly understood by modern leaders).

Fig. 4. Cold War trilogy promo...

Centrum est guia impossibile est. –Latin proverb

THIS new world order must be an organism where there are no conflicting host interests for dominance and abuse of the Charter... In fact, we think the present organization has to be scaled down in its goals focusing more on the prevention of future war through unilateral disarmament, open diplomacy, and international co-operation, restrictions legally imposed on the right of practice to wage war, severe penalties and economic sanctions applied against those which even attempt to plan conflict much less hot warfare. In addition, political legitimacy and participation in international forums be they political, economic or academic, come under serious scrutiny, de facto precluding participation by such negative belligerents in any kind of civil international commerce. In other words, what is emerging now is a low-profiled general consensus, obviously planning to remove the UN HQ from East River, NYC to Geneva CH and, in due course, permanently to Athens, which is a better central location; besides, where it all happened in the first place... Of course, immediately, as the process of dismantlement starts (and it will sooner than later), the belligerents will be excluded from the membership, and participation in all civilized forums, war tribunals called to session, criminal states and their leadership committing crimes against Humanity taken to task and prosecuted, war reparations adjudged and generally the whole framework of the World Organization restructured, with a Council of Elders as the over-riding advisory organ of administration installed, kind of Plato's Auxiliary Guardians, mutually appointed from a whole variety of professions, backgrounds and political affiliations.

□

IN ADDENDUM

THE GULF OF TONKIN INCIDENT

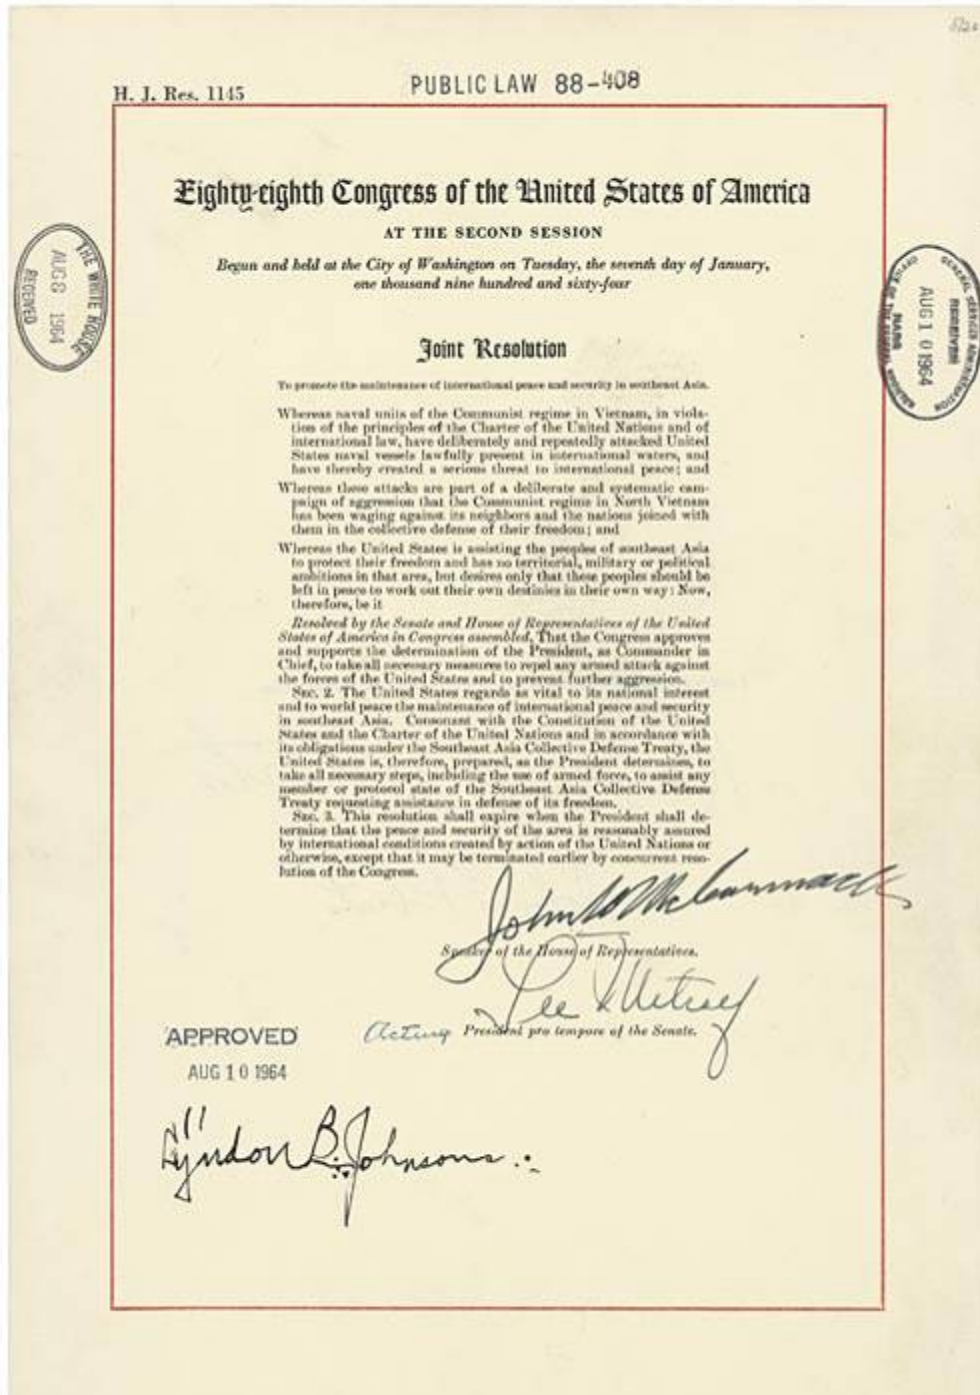

Fig. 5. Tonkin Gulf Resolution; Public Law 88-408, 88th Congress, August 7, 1964; General Records of the United States Government; Record Group 11; National Archives, Washington D.C.

The Gulf of Tonkin Incident, 40 Years Later – False Intelligence and the Decision for the Illegal War in Vietnam

Fig. 6. For more information, contact Dr. John Prados or Archive director Thomas Blanton at 202/994-7000.

Washington, D.C., 4 August 2004 - Forty years ago today, President Johnson and top U.S. officials chose to believe that North Vietnam had just attacked U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin, even though the highly classified signals intercepts they cited to each other actually described a naval clash two days earlier (a battle prompted by covert U.S. attacks on North Vietnam), according to the declassified intercepts, Johnson White House tapes, and related documents posted today by the National Security Archive at George Washington University.

Compiled by Archive senior fellow and Vietnam expert John Prados, today's 40th anniversary electronic briefing book includes Dr. Prados's detailed analysis of the intercepts - only declassified in 2003 - together with audio files and transcripts of the key Tonkin Gulf conversations between President Johnson and Defense Secretary Robert McNamara. The latter are excerpted from Dr. Prados's book, The White House Tapes (New York: The New Press, 2003). The posting also contains photographs and charts from the Tonkin Gulf incident courtesy of the U.S. Naval Historical Center, a detailed documentary chronology compiled by the State Department's Office of the Historian for the Foreign Relations of the United States series, a CIA Special National Intelligence Estimate on possible North Vietnamese responses to U.S. actions from May 1964 (just declassified in June 2004), and links to previous and upcoming Archive publications on Vietnam.

Photo # NH 95611 North Vietnamese motor torpedo boats attacking USS Maddox, 2 Aug. 1964

Fig. 7. Photo taken from USS Maddox (DD-731) during her engagement with three North Vietnamese motor torpedo boats in the Gulf of Tonkin, 2 August 1964. The view shows all three of the boats speeding towards the Maddox. Newly declassified National Security Agency (NSA, Ft. Mead MD) documents show analysts-

made "SIGINT constructs to fit the claim" of the false North Vietnamese Attack, in other words it was a downright lie, stonewalled all the way to legitimacy; disclosed December 1, 2005; the American Government has managed to whitewash the truth for 30 years, killed 2 million Vietnamese, 1 million Cambodians, 58,000 American soldiers, 2,800 MIA, 320,000 wounded and got away with it, of course, even building memorial monument, the Patriotic Wall in D.C., listing all the names of the victims, our American killed troopers. Simply: there no end to the fraud, perfidy and manipulation by the powers that be to legitimize illegitimacy – stonewalling. (!)

Washington, D.C., December 1, 2005 - The largest U.S. intelligence agency, the National Security Agency (NSA), today declassified over 140 formerly top secret documents—histories, chronologies, signals intelligence [SIGINT] reports, and oral history interviews—on the August 1964 Gulf of Tonkin incident. Included in the release is a controversial article by Agency historian Robert J. Hanyok on SIGINT and the Tonkin Gulf which confirms what historians have long argued: that there was no second attack on U.S. ships in Tonkin on August 4, 1964.

According to National Security Archive research fellow John Prados: "the American people have long deserved to know the full truth about the Gulf of Tonkin incident. The National Security Agency (NSA) at Ft. Mead Maryland is to be commended for releasing this piece of the [sanctioned] puzzle. [Of course, ordered by the "powers that be" to release the stonewalled truth about the real tragedy in Indochina, caused by the aggressive Anglo-Saxon ruling elite in Washington.] The parallels between the faulty intelligence on Tonkin Gulf and the manipulated intelligence used to justify the Iraq War make it all the more worthwhile to re-examine the events of August 1964 in light of new evidence." Last year, Mr. Prados edited a National Security Archive briefing book which published for the first time some of the key intercepts from the Gulf of Tonkin crisis.

The National Security Agency has long resisted the declassification of material on the Gulf of Tonkin incident, despite efforts by Senate Foreign Relations Committee staffer Carl Marcy (who had prepared a staff study on the August 4 incident); former Deputy Director Louis Tordella, and John Prados to push for declassification of key documents. Today's release is largely due to the perseverance of FOIA requester Matthew M. Aid, who requested the Hanyok study in April 2004 and brought the issue to the attention of The New York Times when he learned that senior National Security Agency officials were trying to block release of the documents. New York Times reporter Scott Shane wrote that higher-level officials at the NSA were "fearful that [declassification] might prompt uncomfortable comparisons with the flawed intelligence used to justify the war in Iraq." The glaring light of publicity encouraged the Agency's leaders finally to approve declassification of the documents.

Hanyok's article, "Skunks, Bogies, Silent Hounds, and the Flying Fish: The Gulf of Tonkin Mystery, 2-4 August 1964," originally published in the National Security Agency's classified journal, Cryptologic Quarterly, in early 2001, provides a comprehensive SIGINT-based account "of what happened in the Gulf of Tonkin." Using this evidence, Hanyok argues that the SIGINT confirms that North Vietnamese torpedo boats attacked a U.S. destroyer, the USS Maddox, on August 2, 1964, although under questionable circumstances. The SIGINT also shows, according to Hanyok, that a second attack, on August 4, 1964, by North Vietnamese torpedo boats on U.S. ships, did not occur despite SIGINT claims to the contrary by the Johnson administration. President Johnson and Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara treated Agency SIGINT false reports as vital evidence of a second attack (even though they knew the truth) and used this claim to support retaliatory air strikes and to buttress the administration's request for a Congressional resolution that would give the White House freedom of action in Vietnam, albeit illegal!

Hanyok further argues that Agency officials had "mishandled" SIGINT concerning the events of August 4 and provided top level officials with "skewed" intelligence supporting claims of an August 4 attack. "The overwhelming body of reports, if used, would have told the story that no attack occurred." Key pieces of evidence are missing from the Agency's archives, such as the original decrypted Vietnamese text of a document that played an important role in the White House's case. Hanyok has not found a "smoking gun" to demonstrate a cover-up but believes that the evidence suggests "an active effort to make SIGINT fit the claim of what happened during the evening of 4 August in the Gulf of Tonkin." Senior officials at the Agency, the Pentagon, and the White House were none the wiser about the gaps in the intelligence. Hanyok's conclusions have sparked controversy among old Agency hands but his research confirms the insight of journalist I.F. Stone, who questioned the second attack only weeks after the events. Hanyok's article is part of a larger study on the National Security Agency and the Vietnam War, "Spartans in Darkness," which is the subject of a pending FOIA request by the National Security Archive.

